

Trinity Mission Rehab

Early in May; Carol Maltzbarger, Jackie Meyndert, and I visited the Trinity Mission Rehab Center in Provo, Utah. We were asked to pull weeds and plant various flowers in the facilities' courtyard. Under the expert volunteer supervision of one of the resident's, I pulled the weeds (hey...is this a weed?), while Carol and Jackie planted the flowers. We were told we did a great job!!!

We are scheduled to serve there on a monthly basis. They took our personal info for the purpose of clearing us through a background check. It looks as if we will be able to interact with the residents during next months visit. We have been told that taking them on a walk outside the walls of the facility is the number one desired activity. We are not able to accept bribes to help them escape though!!! I have amends to make to an elderly man! I walked through the middle of a bingo game and yelled bingo after hearing a number called. Apparently he was close to having a bingo and thought he had lost again. I did not hear what he mumbled...but I can bet it was not pretty. "Don't make me get Ugly...I am not Pretty when I am Ugly"!!! Oh well...here is to eating crow!!!
