

FOREVERGREEN IS ON FIRE!

The transformation of summer in Utah is one of my favorite times. The weather warms up, the days are longer, people become more active, and nature's colors change. More remarkably, there is a shift in energy and attitude. This renewed energy and zest for life is contagious. What a perfect time to fuel your ForeverGreen business.

In addition to my "Get Fired Up" tour, I went to Mexico to attend the grand opening of the market. This visit ignited my spirit and passion even more. Seeing the way our friends in Mexico have embraced every aspect of ForeverGreen reminded me of our company in its earliest stages. A feeling of family, passion, energy and dedication transformed every guest there. It was truly an amazing transition to taking ForeverGreen to the world.

I would like all of you to find this kind of inspiration in your own market. While you are out in the sunshine in the freshness of the season, share what originally attracted you to ForeverGreen. Maybe it was the opportunity to spend time with your kids while they are out of school, maybe your health has improved so you can enjoy more summertime activities, or maybe you were able to take a vacation because of the extra income you have earned. Regardless, reconnect with your vision and share your story.

My experience in Mexico reminded me that our mission is very real; people can enhance their lives through health, kindness and opportunity. I am more passionate than ever about ForeverGreen. I am energized and excited to continue my summer tour. I hope to share these experiences with you at one of my meetings.

WITH RENEWING LOVE,
RON WILLIAMS

FrequenSea Celebrates Three Years

Tom originally created the process to grow marine phytoplankton for his shellfish farm. Shortly after, Tom developed a serious health challenge whereby doctors gave him only months to live. Tom intuitively began to eat his phytoplankton. Tom attributes his recovery to phytoplankton and its many nutrients.

We are touched everyday with stories from our Members and customers about marine phytoplankton and how it has enhanced their lives. This superfood continues to nourish and heal thousands around the world.

FREQUENSEA CELEBRATES THREE SUCCESSFUL YEARS!

This month, FrequenSea is turning three! Help us celebrate the many lives it has touched! Three years ago, Ron Williams met Tom Harper on a Sea Farm in the Pacific Northwest and an instant connection was made. Ron was touched by Tom's story of self-healing and resilience. Ron's relationship with the entire Harper family continues today. ForeverGreen is proud to distribute FrequenSea in ten countries.

The Harper's pristine sea farm supplies all of the marine phytoplankton used to manufacture FrequenSea. Tom is able to harvest over 200 different species of marine phytoplankton. And he is able to replenish the sea with more plankton than he takes from it.

Join us this month as we celebrate Tom Harper's achievement and honor him!

ForeverGreen is celebrating this anniversary with a special celebration pack that includes the most popular tool available, Another Day, the DVD that shares Tom Harper's discovery.

Mexico Launches with an Explosion!

México is on Fire!

The grand opening of ForeverGreen Mexico highlighted Ron Williams' tour last month. Leaders south of the border have embraced the ForeverGreen opportunity and mission and have taken it to the next level. The energy and passion felt at all three meetings made each a success. In Monterrey alone the events were heralded with extensive media coverage. With upwards of 200 people at each event, new prospects couldn't wait to hear more of the ForeverGreen story. From Monterrey the tour headed southwest to Guadalajara, which was again greeted by local media, including two radio interviews and newspaper coverage. Everyday was filled with excitement and energy. The crowning media moment was when Mr. Carolos Mota (national business correspondent) interviewed Ron Williams. What an incredible response to our grand opening tour in Mexico!

Capping off the events was the Mexico City stop. The enchanting city of Mexico City once again embraced ForeverGreen with positive media coverage across the board. The media coverage repeatedly helped bolster momentum to make for an extraordinary turn out for the main events. Lines continued to grow at the final event in Mexico City; the crowd could not wait to be part of the ForeverGreen opportunity.

Congratulations to Jorge Alvarado, VP of Latin American Business Development, his entire staff, local ForeverGreen Members, and guests for making these events an unforgettable experience!
